SO powerful is the universal will for peace that repeated disappointments have failed to quell the longing for peace. It doesn't take long to realize that the peace of the future seems incapable of launching peace offensives concurrently, at opposite ends of a single track. Israel Patrols Attacked By Jordan Fire

A Jordanian force opened fire on the Israeli patrol south-east of Bet Govia, the Army spokesman announced. The Israeli patrol did not return the fire and some of its men were hit. At the same time, a second Jordanian force entered Israeli territory in the same vicinity and opened fire on another Israeli patrol. The Israeli unit returned the fire, and after an exchange of shots which lasted for several hours, the Jordanians withdrew across the line. Our forces suffered no losses. Aranne Denies 'Propaganda' Slur

Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter. — Replying to charges that the Government Information Service was engaged in propaganda, Mr. Z. Aranne told the Knesset yesterday that the chief purpose of the Service was to provide the public with a better and clearer relationship between the Government and the citizen. The establishment of the Service had been decided just a year ago, when he was invited to join the Cabinet, and he thought that in the months during which work had been in progress, such closer contact had been achieved. He said that wide circles, including the entire press, had been reached by the 400 volunteer speakers of the Service, the approach had been one of dialogue, and that the Service had been selected for its party affiliations, he told Mr. Hagan, who had protested that no single organization should be used for propaganda. Aranne said, and supported the motion, that the Service had been selected exclusively from the Coalition parties. It was their job to present the basic workings and principles of the Government, and this could not be done by opposition speakers. It is not a business to set up a Ministry of Confusion, he said, to the delight of the Knesset.

Iraq Sends Delegation To Cairo, Without Nuri

The military and economic weakness of the Arab states makes it imperative for them to join with the West. Dr. Fadhi Jassbi, former Iraqi Premier and one of the leaders of the mission which will participate in the Arab Premier's conference in Cairo, declared on arrival in the Egyptian capital yesterday.

No Knesset Debate On Turco-Iraqi Pact

By a Special Correspondent.
Motions for a foreign policy debate in connection with the Turco-Iraqi pact, tabled by the Communists and Mapam in the Knesset yesterday, were struck off the agenda, after a reply by the Prime Minister, Mr. M. Sharett.

Doubting whether the exemption taken to the foreign policy debate would prevent the Iraqi viewpoint and try to convince the Arab Premier that the world now "is in the mood for the Foreign Minister's statement which the Arabs cannot escape."

Tuesday night's meeting of the Arab Premier's conference in Cairo, which was held in the presence of the Iraqi Premier, Abdul Nasser, and the Turkish Premier, Ismet Inönü, was a landmark in the history of the Arab world.

The Yemineh Premier, Saif of Islam Hassan, arrived in Cairo yesterday to participate in the conference. The Iraqi Premier, Abdul Nasser, arrived in Cairo yesterday to participate in the conference.

For the first time, Iraqi opposition leaders of the banned Ba'ath Party broadcast in person on the radio, and the Iraqi Premier, Abdul Nasser, arrived in Cairo yesterday to participate in the conference.

Second Negative Feature. — The reference to U.N. resolutions as a basis on which to build a new Arab state, was a point which was not mentioned in the Turco-Iraqi pact.

Mr. Sharett stated that Israel was now trying to clear up the confusion of the project, and that the Government of the Turkish Republic had recalled that its friendship with Israel would in no way be affected by whatever defence arrangements it might enter into with other Arab states.

British Catch Greek Ship With Arms for Cyprus

By IRIS K. RUSSELL.
Jerusalem Post Correspondent.
NICOSIA, Wednesday. — An attempt to smuggle arms and explosives into Cyprus via the uninhabited western shores of Paphos was thwarted last night by the combined action of British ships, planes, and troops stationed by the Cyprus police.

The 100-ton Greek motorboat, St. George, was intercepted out at sea, abandoned to the Cyprus shore, and seized with her cargo of dynamite and hand-grenades near Kition, three miles west of Paphos, and 180 kilometres north of Nicosia.

Officials kept the strictest secrecy about the seizure, but reports from P. P. O. showed that the boat's port of origin was in Idhra, off southern Greece.

A government statement said, "Investigation recently received from police agents indicated that attempts were being made to re-exports of arms and explosives. Further information will be made public in due course."

An R.A.F. spokesman said that for the past nine days, the Air Force had alerted aircraft in the area west of Cyprus to keep a look-out for the boat. A M. E. L. spokesman said that the British troops thus were ready to sweep down on the re-exports party just when it was preparing to enter Cyprus to meet the Greek boat.

As the mission arrived yesterday, Cairo Radio's "Voice of the Arabs" broadcast a campaign against the radio, and the Iraqi Premier, Abdul Nasser, arrived in Cairo yesterday to participate in the conference.

U.S. Senate Opens Debate on Formosa

WASHINGTON, Wednesday (UP). — Two Senate committees today jointly approved President Eisenhower's proposal to defend Formosa against invasion by China.

The vote was 56 to 2. William Langer, Republican, and Wayne Morse, Independent, dissented. Debate on the resolution began immediately on the Senate floor after the committee's action was disclosed.

Sen. Russell Long (Dem.) said that he would be forced to vote against the resolution in its present form. He added that extension of U.S. protection to the small Nationalist-held islands off the China mainland could lead to American involvement in an out war.

He cautioned his colleagues against being in a "wild rush" to pass the proposed resolution. "Further information will be made public in due course," he said.

EGYPT WARNED VIOLENCE IMPENDING

The Israel Government views with serious concern the worsening in the security situation along the Gaza Strip border, the Foreign Ministry spokesman told the Kof Yisrael Arabic press today.

He added: "In view of the need for preventing hostilities and trying to get more peaceful arrangements, it is not clear that China is in a position to take a proper position in the United Nations."

Mr. Johnston told the Press that he was glad to be back in Israel, and to see his green uniform, and he hoped that his stay would be a pleasant one. When pressed by the reporters for further details, he answered, smilingly, "I'm deaf, dumb and blind."

The party went to the American Embassy for a conference. The evening, Mr. Johnston attended a reception given by Mr. Lawrence at which Prime Minister Sharett and Mrs. Sharett were the guests of honour, and Mr. Johnston's party of four was present.

Item Gas Blast Hurts 2, Ruins Flats

Jerusalem Post Reporter

An explosion caused by leaking domestic gas injured two persons, one seriously, and ruined two Jerusalem apartments within a matter of minutes at 4:30 yesterday morning. Five other persons, including a 14-month-old baby, were badly shaken but uninjured.

Mr. Eric Schragenheim, 61, is in Hadassah Hospital with severe burns, while Mrs. Malka Rindol, 21, was discharged after treatment for shock and bruises. The bomb-like blast occurred when the Schragenheim's At Rehov Gas in the Rehavia quarter. It is a kerosene burner in his kitchen where he also had a stove.

Representatives of the Butag gas company who had delivered a new cylinder a few days previously, are carrying out an investigation. Their investigators said that they found some gas left in the cylinder when they examined it.

Most fortunate of all was 14-month-old David Rindol who was sleeping in the apartment next to the Schragenheim's at 3 a.m. he began coughing and his parents, Haim and Malka, took him to sleep in their room.

His life was thus saved for his crib stood against a wall that was demolished. The door of the room was thrown into his parents' room and landed next to their bed, serving as a shield against flying debris.

The inner walls of both two-room apartments collapsed, and door-panels were smashed to bits, and doors were ripped off their hinges. One door was found five metres from the house and splintered 20 metres away.

There was no explanation available yesterday as to why the heavy concentration of gas which usually gives off a strong odour was not detected by Mr. Schragenheim before he lit the match. Assistant Superintendent of Police Meir Kaplan, head of Police Laboratories at National Headquarters, and First Inspector Ze'ev Shapiro and A. Ofir, experts in ballistics and chemical analysis, were called in from Tel Aviv to carry out the investigation.

Blasted living room of Schragenheim flat.

Two policemen were stationed in the flats to prevent burglary. The Schragenheim apartment was insured, but the Rindol's were not. Damage to both apartments is estimated roughly at IL15,000 apart from personal loss, which Mr. Rindol considered to be several thousand pounds.

The circumstances and motives which drove Shmuel to seek revenge on the family of Dr. S. Ben-Zur, a Ben-Zur, and plan to kidnap his son-in-law, Mr. G. Rynar, in order to force the family into paying IL7,000, were described by the defendant yesterday, in testimony on his own behalf in the Ben-Zur murder trial in Jerusalem District Court.

Nehemia, who is on trial for the murder together with Avraham Sison and Mordechai Golan, told the court of his disappointments early in life and how he had lost his left leg when he was run over by a car at the age of 18. Before unfolding his story, the defendant requested that his wife and sister be removed from the courtroom so as not to "grieve them."

In 1935, the defendant related, he was served an eviction order for failing to pay two months' rent amounting to IL12, and in April of last year, he was forced to leave his home near the Tel Aviv-Cinemas. He then moved to a small room in a tenement house in an attempt to get help from the President's Office following his eviction. Nehemia told the Court that he decided to kidnap Dr. Ben-Zur's son-in-law, Mr. Rynar, and to pursue the Ben-Zur family to pay him IL7,000. It was in connection with these schemes that Dr. Nehemia sought the aid of the other defendants to help him carry out his plans. A total of 1,000 tons of goods, including four other ships may be partially affected.
